

Cultivation and Guidance

1. The purpose of cultivation and guidance is to stir up the Detainee's innate knowledge and ability, to regard him with esteem and to abide by the law as to be able to adapt to the normal life in the legal society when one day comes he returns to the society.
2. In combination with a series of activities of literature and recreation and the resource accumulated from mercy and religion, the detainees can be amended by chance and raised their knowledge and virtue.
3. There are some methods or types to cultivate and guide as the following:

☆Individual cultivation and guidance Judging from the individual's inquiry, understanding his/her behavior, the background of his/her family and society, this Center will teach him/her accordingly.

☆Mass Cultivation and Guidance A speech for cultivation and guidance given by the people concerned and specialists and scholars, so that the conduct and virtue of these detainees can be amended.

☆Religious Cultivation and Guidance According to the detainee's religious belief, the personal or group of various religions is invited to this Center once a week at least to give a religious cultivation and guidance.

☆Cultivation and Guidance by Books A large quantity of books on the shelves and cases installed in each room is available for detainee to read. And a Book Cruise, called “Book Savor with the Wind” is often invited from the Local governmental Cultural Center to this Center, which offers more and better books to read, hoping these detainees to be changed and influenced unobtrusively and imperceptibly, and, gradually, their temperament is also changed.

☆A variety of matches and games of balls, songs, and chess is held periodically in this Center, and the champions are awarded.
